

Sip a cocktail and explore "Independent Visions: Sculpture in the Garden" theatrically lit under the night sky, before stopping by the Edible Garden Outdoor Kitchen to learn fresh ideas from the Garden Chef. Judy Fritz's husband, Garden docent Rick Fritz has agreed to lead an ATSCC tour of the Atlanta Botanical Garden on September 20 during one of the ABG's regular Thursday night Cocktail in the Garden dates.

Cocktails in the Garden are from 6 PM to 10 PM, and to meet with our group, look for Rick inside the ABG entrance (behind the ticket booths) at 6:30 PM. They will have a list of all of the individuals who sign up to go so that we can participate together.

Please contact Margo Hester at margotfox@comcast.net if you would like to be part of the group. Botanical Garden members attend free. Adult non-members pay $18.95 for admission at the ticket booth (includes one complimentary cocktail.) There is also a parking fee. Margo will lend her Botanical Garden parking card to one driver for parking one car full at no charge.
